HEALTH SUPPORTING NATURAL FEED SUPPLEMENTS

1. INTRODUCTION

* SICO-HERBCARE[®] products are composed of pure natural ingredients (vitamins, minerals, organic acids and herbs). They are not medicines and therefore do not involve withdrawal periods nor side effects. The philosophy behind these products is simple: by using natural ingredients and nutrients, the animal benefits from a better condition and higher resistance. The logical consequence of this is clear: healthier animals result in higher performance.

* Over the last few decades, many aspects of farming have changed. In intensive cattle rearing, production units are becoming larger and larger so that more is produced at minimal cost. This means that productivity must be as high as possible, using a minimum of surface area per animal and with a minimum of labour costs.

Stricter legislation and higher quality requirements have made both farmers and consumers aware of the benefits of healthy and natural breeding methods on the one hand and of profitable and economically viable ones on the other.

SICO-HERBCARE[®] products provide an answer to these new challenges by offering support products that benefit health, the environment and the operating capacity and therefore the profitability of modern farms.

* Our goal with SICO-HERBCARE[®] is to help you increase your performance in a sustainable and natural way. You can achieve all this through the guidance you are given by our professional staff, who offer you individual services.
